BOYS WORK WILL BE STARTED IN THE CITY

Widening of Highway No. 9 Started Today

WILL DIVIDE FORCE WITH W. T. JOBS

50 MEN CALLED

Park Planned at Tierra Blanca Creek South of City

Work of widening highway No. 9 through Canyon will start today, after a delay of several weeks in getting the approval from Austin.

While the men have been waiting for this approval, all work has been centered on the campus projects of W. T. Rapid progress has been made this week as a result of having from 150 to 170 men on these jobs.

The widening of No. 9 through Canyon has been set up as one of the necessary improvements of the highway system. Work will start at the Santa Fe viaduct and will extend south of the Tierra Blanca creek. It is planned to make a park at the bridge, obliterating the unsightly dumping ground north of the bridge. It is also planned to straighten the creek bed which will lessen the chances of washing out the highway in case of flood waters.

Coach Al Baggett states that work has progressed in such a manner on the College projects that a smaller crew of men may carry on the work in the future. The request is being made that a definite number of men be assigned to these projects for regular work, as they will in this manner be able to carry on the work better than the larger crew which has been uncertain as to the jobs they would perform from day to day. A sufficient amount of rock is on the ground to enable the work to go forward in splendid shape.

Other campus work will be ready to submit as relief projects when the county planning committee is appointed this afternoon. This

P. K. Brian Died Friday at Ranch Home Near Claude

P. K. Brian, 73, pioneer rancher and stockman of Armstrong county, died Friday at his ranch home near Claude. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Baptist church in Claude, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Russell, assisted by Rev. J. R. Hicks of Canyon.

The family has lived in Canyon for a number of years during the school term, coming here to take advantage of the school system.

Surviving are the widow, five sons and five daughters.

Pall bearers were, Arch Finley, Ernest Christian, Jim Christian, Horace Baker, M. B. Duke and J. H. Galloway.

Upchurch Moves to Remodeled Offices in the Court House

County Agent W. H. Upchurch is fully located in his newly remodeled offices in the court house. Confined to his home last week with an attack of flu, the move was not made in time for opening the new offices Saturday, as was formerly planned.

The enlarged offices provide for greatly needed space in looking after the increasing amount of business which is being imposed on county agents by the government.

New furniture was added which will facilitate the work of Mr. Upchurch and his corps of assistants in handling the business. Practically half a million dollars were handed the farmers of the county during the past year, and program calls for a continuation of much of this work in the future.

JOE HILL, JR.

Joe Hill Sailed For Home Yesterday With Byrd

The Byrd expedition sailed yesterday from Little America where the party has spent the past year in explorations.

In the scientific party was Joe Hill, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon. Joe is the youngest member of the party, and landed a place with the expedition by the impressive letters he wrote Admiral Byrd in making application for a place.

No definite time has been set for the return of the party to America, but it will not likely be before the middle of May.

Postal Receipts Take Jump Over January of 1934

Postal receipts in Canyon started off the new year with an increase over 1934.

The receipts for the past month were $1,650.07 as compared with $1,599.30 for January, 1934.

New Mexico Hot Shots Coming Friday and Saturday

AGGIES RETURN

Four Tough Assignments Await Baggett Men Here

Friday and Saturday the Buffs will meet the New Mexico Normal University of Las Vegas at Burton Gym. The New Mexico team has played eleven games this season, winning the last ten straight from the leading college teams of New Mexico. They lost only their opening game. They will furnish the Buffs with a tough assignment for the two nights.

Monday and Tuesday will see two more hard fought games when the Panhandle A. & M. from Goodwell, Okla., returns for two games. This aggregation took the Buffs into camp the first game of the season. The Aggies have an experienced team which has been going strong all season, and is said to have improved since the opening game played with the Buffs.

Basketball fans are assured of four fine games when the Buffs play these two series.

Seventy-Five New Students Entered for New Semester

Seventy-five new students are enrolled in W. T. for the beginning of the second semester. This is an increase in attendance over the last semester, but the exact figures are not available from the Registrar's office.

Several students here last semester withdrew at the end of the period, but the number to enroll has more than off-set the number to withdraw.

Thompson Re-Elected

C. L. THOMPSON

C. L. Thompson Is Re-Elected Secretary Hardware Men

C. L. Thompson was re-elected secretary of the Panhandle Hardware and Implement Association Tuesday at the 26th annual convention of the association held in Amarillo. Mr. Thompson has served in this capacity for a number of years, and his re-election annually is unanimous as a testimony to the splendid service which he renders the members of the association.

The association convention was the most largely attended of any in a number of years, and great interest was shown in the program which had been prepared.

Many Farmers To Attend Pond Meet In Amarillo Friday

The district meeting of the Pond Association will be held in Amairllo Friday afternoon. A large number of farmers from Randall county have expressed interest in the work and will attend the meeting to hear reports of the officers, and gather information regarding this work.

BUILDING IS PROPOSED TO CARRY WORK

Hill Proposed to Furnish Much Material for House

WORK EXPLAINED

Meeting Tuesday Will Discuss the Project Further

Boys work in Canyon received great encouragement Tuesday as a result of a presentation by the sponsors of the Maverick Club in Amarillo when a program was presented at the Rotary Club luncheon. At the close of the program Dr. Joe Hill made the statement that W. T. Would provide the rock, sand and gravel for the erection of a building for boys if the city and county would provide the other materials. Directed leadership for the boys' work would also be furnished from the College, stated Mr. Hill.

Emmett Galloway and Ed Voight of the Amarillo club told of their work among the underprivileged boys of that city. 1454 young boys had been gathered into the club, "the dirty neck" bunch, as Mr. Galloway termed them, the boys who had no pleasant home surroundings, and whose only recreation is in the back alley. Most of them are from homes of the relief workers. A large percent are from homes where one or both parents are divorcees, and have little or no interest in the welfare of the boys.

Mr. Galloway as a Rotarian became interested in this class of boys two years ago. With the assistance of a few Rotarians he opened a hall for them Jan. 1st, 1934, without a dollar in sight. In 1933, 28 young boys had been sent to the reform school from Amarillo. Since that time only two boys have been sent up, both of these just two days after the club was opened. Mr. Galloway is devoting his life to saving this class of boys. He visits in their homes; knows all their problems, and the problems of their parents. His work is to help the boys who do not have a chance.

Jimmy Taylor, chief of police of the Maverick Club, 8 year old leader, was presented as an example of what the club was doing. He told

TOM DAVIES

Tom Davies, Well Known Stockman, Died on Saturday

Tom Davies, 72, died Saturday at an Amarillo hospital where he has been ill for a number of weeks. The funeral services were held Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the Griggs-Thompson Funeral Home and the body shipped to Keota, Iowa, for interment. A Niece, Mrs. Margaret Bowers of Keota, and Mrs. O. W. H. Cook accompanied the body.

Mr. Davies was one of the best known stockmen in the Southwest. He came from his native Wales at the age of 18 years, and was associated with C. O. Keiser in Iowa, coming to Texas 20 years ago to have charge of the Keiser herds. He probably had more experience as a buyer of both registered horses and registered Herefords than any man in this section. While engaged in the Percheron business, Mr. Davies made about 20 trips to France for Mr. Keiser. Since coming to Canyon, Mr. Davies has visited every important Hereford ranch and sale of registered Herefords held in the Southwest over a period of years.

Surviving is a son, John E. Davies, in Wales; two brothers, John H. Davies of Keota, Iowa, and Lewis M. Davies of London; a niece, Mrs. Margaret Bowers of Keota, Iowa, and a nephew, Lewis M. Davies of Ames, Iowa.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. R. Hicks, pastor of the local Baptist church. Pall bearers were: W. C. Black, Oscar Hunt, O. W. H. Cook, Andy Walsh, Scott Downing and J. W. Reid.

Fire Destroys Feed Stacks at Prichard Home

A fire of undetermined origin burned a feed stack at the Emmitt Prichard home southeast of Canyon Tuesday afternoon. The Fire department from Canyon went to the farm and prevented the fire from burning the barns and other buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Prichard wish to express their sincere thanks to the Fire Department and the telephone girls for the great service they rendered.

About 50% County and 65% School Are Paid

Randall county has only 1349 qualified voters armed with poll tax receipts for the special elections which will probably be held this year. The number to pay their poll taxes was less than anticipated some time ago by those urging that payments be made.

No figures were available for the amount of taxes finally collected for the state and county, but it was estimated by Collector Bob Barnett that the amount will run something like 50% on the tax rolls. This is about the same percentage as was collected before the closng time for payments last year.

1934 taxes which were unpaid on February 1st will now have a penalty added of 1% per month until July, which will make a total of 8%. In addition to this 6% interest will be added. This plan was worked out by the last session of the legislature which announced it as a permanent tax policy.

Between now and March 15th it is believed that a lrage amount of delinquent taxes for 1933 and previous years will be paid. The penalty and interest were remitted by a bill passed in the last legislature.

Distribution of automobile license plates was started Friday. Car owners have until March 31st to equip their cars with the new 1935 tags.

Andy Walsh, collector for the Canyon Independent School District, estimates that 65% of the school taxes were paid. The remission of penalty and interest on delinquent taxes of 1933 and former years also applies to the delinquent school taxes.

NO TIME FOR HITCH-HIKERS

Enrollee Has Lost Faith In Congress Action

Never again will W. C. Rice pin his faith in Congress.

Rice is a member of CCC Company 1821 at the Palo Duro State Park.

Recently he made a wager with Olen Isebell, also of Company 1821, that Congress would pass the Bonus Bill before the first day of February.

The wager was a wheel barrow ride from the Park to Canyon.

Early Saturday morning the procession started from the Palo Duro.

The morning was cold, and Isebell needed protection. He gathered up all the clothing he could find, and insisted that he place his bed on the Irish Cadillac, but Rice insisted that the trip did not call for Pullman accomodations.

Officers and men from the two companies visited the pair as Rice trudged along the Goodnight Trail toward Canyon, wondering if Colonel Goodnight had a harder time than he as he progressed toward this city.

A short stop at noon allowed the men to eat their lunch, kindly fixed by the cooks of 1821.

After 7 hours and 40 minutes Rice deposited Isebel in Canyon, having fulfilled his wager, but declaring that Congress was nothing on which one may pin his faith.

PANHANDLE MEMBER 1933 PRESS ASSOCIATION

The State Department of Health has issued an interesting review of the health situation in Texas, showing the lack of public support for this department. As compared with other states, Texas showed a very large per capita increase in many diseased, and otherwise lack of interest in the question of public health. The newspapers of Texas are blamed by this department for the reduction of appropriations in the state government. The newspapers are called upon to start a fight for the increase of appropriation for this department. The News has no desire to match an argument with the doctors who are members of the State Department of Health, but we are willing to wager a thin dime that in their home towns each and every one is of the ethical type who refuses to give the newspapers any sort of publicity regarding themselves or their work, and did not even carry a professional card to let the people know that they are in business. The medical profession as a whole has cultivated a very rich field for the quacks of this country by refusing to indulge in any sort of publicity. The people of this nation are lead and directed through publicity. As individuals, no doubt, every doctor connected with the Health Department has refused to give any useful publicity either of himself or his profession to the press. But now that the entire health situation has become deplorable in Texas there is a cry from this same group that the press do something about it. As for appropriations, the groups of the state government which make themselves the best known to the legislators are the ones receiving the largest appropriations. The Health Department receives the smallest appropriation because the legislators know little of its work, and never hears of its work, owing to the feeling that it is unethical for a doctor to mention himself or his work.

The News has received a great volume of publicity from the Texas Motor Transportation Association which is seeking to induce the legislature to turn the big trucks loose on the highways, increasing the loads from 7,000 to 14,000 pounds. Local truck deliveries are a very convenient and rapid method for merchants, but when it comes to the long hauls by truck, the average shipper objects. As an illustration, The News received a shipment last July from New York. It was ordered to come by railroad freight but the shipper sent it by truck. There was breakage to the amount of $5.05 in the shipment. Claim was filed immediately, but to this good day no adjustment has been made, and with the exception of regret from the company which made the delivery, no answer has been received to more than a dozen letters. At the same time a shipment of goods was received by railroad freight in which there was damage. This was settled by the railroad within two weeks. The big truck lines can hardly convince us that it is a good thing to ship by truck. Those who travel the highways are disgusted with the hogging of the highways by the big trucks, and the admittedly increasing number of accidents due to increased numbers of trucks on the highway.

Some folks are inclined to laugh at the idea advanced for building dams in the Panhandle for the purpose of better flood control, as well as improving the moisture in this section. From a scientific standpoint, the idea is entirely feasable, and if it had been put into execution back in the good old days when land owners had money for improvement, the great drouth would not have been so severe. The only successful method of starting flood control is to start the series of dams back at head waters, and hold as much water as possible in each of the series of dams which may be a mile or so apart. When there is plenty of rain, there is no use for the water, but when the drouth hits, as this section has gone through during the past five years, then all farmers wish there was some surface water abailable for irrigation. There will be no method of making folks do this, but the idea is a good one for discussion, and some will fall into the idea.

The State Board of Education complains again of the number of athletic events being staged for school days. In this we are very much of an opinion that the Board is right. To hold football games on Fridays means that the entire day is the same as a loss so far as school is concerned. Football is a great thing for any school, when not carried to the extreme. But in the modern way of carrying on football, we are inclined to believe that it is being overemphasized in many schools. The increased patronage of Friday's game will not offset the loss to the students for the day spent in the interest of the game, or the taxpayer who foots the bill for the school system.

This nation will not get back on its feet and start on the road to prosperity so long as there are practically as many, if not more people living off the government as there are supporting the government. Time was that respectable men thought it a disgrace not to pay their taxes promptly, and to support their government in every way possible. The depression, with its huge relief projects, has made too many feel that the government owes them a living regardless of whether they are worth anything to their government, or have ever tried to do anything to make the world a better place in which to live.

A magazine writer says that it will be two more years before the world has fully recovered from the effects of the depression. The return of prosperity depends all together upon the viewpoint of the writer. Just having plenty to eat will mean prosperity for many; a job will mean prosperity to 20 million idle; while long profits and excessive dividends will be necessary to spell prosperity to others. Getting back to normal with too many means the return of the abnormal days of 1929.

Members of the legislature petitioned that Alfalfa Bill Murray be made a member of the Texas legislature; which leads the Memphis Democrat to suggest Huey Long as president of Texas U. and Ma Ferguson as head of the social science department. Why overlook Doc Brinkley, who might fit in the animal husbandry or surgery departments.

When whiskey takes the wheel, the useful automobile becomes an engine of death. Those who insist upon drinking should not insist upon running the chance of killing innocent people even though they value their own necks so lightly.

It is said that of 30 million people born since history has recorded only 5,000 are considered of great prominence. It is consoling to the rest of us that we are in such a large company.

The Japanese are conducting another of those defensive attacks upon the aggressive Chinese who threaten to step out and conquer the world.

January and February, so far, has been just one dry norther after another. Fortunately more of them have been short in endurance, and milder than past winters.

Many of Ma Ferguson's pardoned boys did not stay pardoned long.

WHISKEY TAKES THE STEERING WHEEL

In a recent series of graphic bulletins, the National Safety Council points to a tremendous increase in drunken driving during the past year—and to a substantial gain in the number of deaths and injuries due to mixing alcohol and gasoline. The first twelve months of repeal may have been beneficial in some respects—but it left a devastating trail of death behind it. Severe as the drunken driving problem was during prohibition, it has become doubly severe now.

The best obtainable statistics indicate that five to ten percent of both drivers and pedestrians involved in traffic accidents are under the influence of liquor. These statistics however, in the belief of the Council, understate matters, inasmuch as a multitude of accidents occur in which drinking is a factor but is not reported for one reason or another. A short time ago a thorough survey was made of 119 accidents involving 116 injuries and fatalities—and it showed that in 60 per cent of the accidents the alcohol factor was involved. According to the authority making this survey, as little as one ounce of whiskey will cause a measureable loss of driving efficiency in the average person.

Reports from traffic departments throughout the nation thoroughly back up the fact that drunken driving is showing an astounding gain. Drunken driving arrests amount to from 20 to 100 per cent more than they did a year ago, and police authorities likewise state that a rising percentage of accidents can be ascribed to the "little black bottle."

Here is a problem that involves the health, life and property of every citizen. It is a problem that must be fought by us all, drys and wets alike. Under the best of conditions, highways and strees are potentially dangerous—and they become slaughterhouses when whiskey takes the steering wheel.

The best place to have glasses fitted is at Dr. Hyden's, Amarillo. 38tf

I. E. S. BETTER SIGHT LAMP
designed especially for people who are interested in SIGHT SAVING

HIGHER THAN THE ORDINARY LAMP: 19½ inches from table top to bottom of the shade, the BETTER SIGHT LAMP gives several times as much useful light as ordinary lamps at the usual working distance.

Below: INSIDE REFLECTOR DIFFUSER—which eliminates both reflected and direct glare and softens shadows.

TWO SHADES IN ONE: An outer shade for beauty. An inner surface—with a specially treated white finish of high reflecting efficiency—which reflects twice as much useful light as the ordinary lamp shade.

"How different", you say, "from the ordinary lamp." Of course it's different, because it was created with the one purpose in mind of helping people see with greater ease . . . of being useful as well as ornamental.

There's no other lamp like it because no other lamp gives you as much useful light for reading or working . . . and at the same time throws just the right amount of light to the ceiling for general illumination.

Every I. E. S. Better Sight lamp is built to the specifications of the Illuminating Engineering Society and must carry their tag of approval. We have a variety of both floor and table models. Prices vary but even in the least expensive types you get the same quality and quantity of light that is built into the more decorative models. Put one or more of these practical lamps in your home—for Better Sight.

Oriental Made Enlightening Talk In Chapel Sat.

Emphasized Importance Of Far Eastern Question

"The center of the world has moved from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the important world problems of this century promise to be those of the Far East," declared Dr. No-Yong Pao in an address here Saturday morning.

Dr. Pao, author, Harvard scho'ar, and lecturer on Oriental subjects, declares that people who believe that Japan is a weak country have been misinformed and that those who believe that Japan has no industrial future have failed to realize that she has almost unlimited water power, that the people have a simple mode of life, and that Japan is better organized than the United States to compete in world markets.

"Statistics are misleading," said Dr. Pao, "for instance, statistics never mention the value of Japan's fishing waters which are almost unlimited in extent and which are fully as valuable, acre for acre, as truck gardening area in the United States."

"If Japan imported no food for a year, that which she has in storage would amply provide for her entire population for all but one and one-half days of the 365."

Dr. Pao, who has recently returned from the Orient, was on his way to California when he stopped for a brief visit in Canyon. He was introduced here by Dr. C. A. Pierle of the Chemistry Department of the West Texas State Teachers College. Dr. Pierle lived many years in China.

FINE BOYS VS. FINE HORSES

The advocates of legalized horse racing gambling are loud in their praise of the plan because the State is given a "rake-off" which is set aside to buy stallions and jacks for farming communities. Well, if that is such a good plan, why not license pool halls, saloons bull and cock fighting? Our guess is the solid, thoughtful farmers and other good citizens of Texas are not going to stand for the deal the legislature gave them when the horse racing law was put over. The farmers are not asking race track gamblers to buy their breeding stock. Watch the propaganda that is being sent out. You just can't stand for that law and expect your boys to go untarnished with the gambling mania. Better raise fine boys than fine horses. The 100 per cent unanimous condemnation of race track gambling by the merchants of Dallas, backed up by every newspaper in Dallas, is certainly evidence sufficient to wake up the people who have not gone wholly over to the worship of the almighty dollar, regardless.—McKinney Examiner.

Illustrations By Mead Are In New Book About Texas

A copy of "Under Texas and Border Skies" by Roscoe Logue of Amarillo has been received here. It has just been printed by the Russell Stationery Company.

People who find stories of early ranch life, West Texas drouth experiences, Panhandle mirages, blizzards, brands, wind mills, and old time square dances will find the volume quite diverting.

The book has a dstinct flavor of its own. The pictures are well shown, and the art work by Ben Carlton Mead is suggestive and attractive. Mr. Logue is a resident of Amarillo.

Mr. Mead painted one of the murals in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Stunt Night To Be February 21st

Under the sponsorship of the Young Women's Christian Association, All-College Stunt Night will be observed Thursday evening, February 21, at 8:00 o'clock in the College Auditorium. The custom of setting aside one night every other year for an evening's performance of competitive stunts was started by the Y. W. C. A. several years ago, and has in the past proved a popular phase of collegiate activity for both students and faculty. Ten cents will be the admission price charged.

Winner to Receive Prizes

This year, as before, the Y. W. C. A. is offering a prize of $5.00 (but not in gold, since we've gone off the gold standard) to the student organization presenting the most effective stunt of not more than fifteen minutes in length. Presidents and sponsors of the organizations have already received copies of the rules governing the contest, and it is understood that several groups have declared their intentions of making the competition keen.

Among the organizations making the most enthusiastic preparations are the Wheeler County Club, the Wranglers, and even the Prairie Staff.

Faculty Will Perform

One number on the evening's program will be the faculty stunt—a feature which has never failed to please. As has been the custom, heretofore, the stunt given by members of the faculty will not compete for the prize.

Judges for the evening will be representative citizens of Canyon and will be selected by the Y. W. C. A.

Will Seek New Speed Record

When Wiley Post (left) flies from Los Angeles to New York soon via the stratosphere in an attempt to break the coast-to-coast record, he will navigate by a new radio compass. This delicate instrument, which was procured by Post's backer, Frank Phillips (right), will guide the Winnie Mae by the programs of ordinary broadcasting stations, heading Post directly to the station he is hearing. Any deviation, left or right, will be shown on the dial (center) on Post's instrument panels.

Bartlesville, Okla., February 00.—It may be music, it may be the early morning prattle of the typical radio recipe-giver, or it may be a radio comedy being wafted over the air waves—any or all of these may become the guides by which Wiley Post, famed "round the world flyer," sets his course for New York City when he takes off from Los Angeles soon in his attempt to break the present transcontinental record of 10 hours and 2 minutes.

For Post will be using a new type of radio compass. Instead of navigating by the usual radio-beam he will tune in the regular programs of ordinary broadcasting stations. The new instrument was procured for Post's flight by Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum Company, who is sponsoring Post's stratosphere experiments.

One of Post's difficulties in planning his flight through the stratosphere has been that of navigation. At altitudes of thirty to forty thousand feet he will be "out of sight of land" throughout most of the trip—unable to follow landmarks. The ordinary magnetic compass could not be depended upon to navigate a direct course as it would not compensate for the drift in the high winds which Post expects to encounter. The usual radio beam equipment used by transport companies will not help because beam broadcasting stations are only placed on established traffic lanes, whereas Post will be flying a great circle route, charted by his own technicians.

The radio compass, developed by the Westport Manufacturing Company of Glendale, California, on specifications laid down by Billy Parker, Phillips Petroleum Company's chief aviation technician, was just the navigation aid for which Post was looking. It combines a radio direction finder with a receiving set, and included in the assembly is a dial for tuning to the weather broadcast stations of the Department of Commerce.

Through earphones installed in the aluminum oxygen helmet of his strato-suit, Post will hear the programs of the stations to which he tunes. When he takes off from Los Angeles he will probably tune to KOA, Denver. When the nose of the Winnie Mae is pointing straight toward the Denver broadcasting station the hand on the instrument panel shown above will point straight up, and Wiley will hear the program with clarity. So delicate is the apparatus that the slightest deflection of the Winnie Mae's nose will cause the program to fade and the direction of error, left or right, will be shown by the compass dial hand.

As soon as he gets as close to Denver as his charted course will permit, Post will tune to WOW, Omaha, Nebraska, until he passes over Omaha, then pick up WHO, Des Moines, WGN, Chicago, WTAM, Cleveland, and finally head straight for his destination on the programs being broadcast from WJZ, New York.

Only three radio compasses capable of keeping a course on a radio program have been built heretofore. The one Frank Phillips procured for Post is the fourth. The first was developed for the U. S. Navy and is in use on the dirigible, Macon. The second is also in the hands of the Navy, and the third was made for a projected trans-Atlantic hop which will be made this spring. Yet Post's radio compass differs from the first three. The earlier ones made it necessary to pack another radio set to get Department of Commerce weather reports. Post's set combines both types of receivers in one compact case, yet weighs only fifteen pounds.

"There's enough risk in this daring experiment without having to wrestle with navigating problems," said Frank Phillips, Post's backer, "so we are extremely happy that this astounding radio compass is available. Just as Post's stratosphere flights are opening a whole new field of high speed flying for commercial aviation, just so is this new Westport radio compass expected to presage a new era in navigation."

Abraham Lincoln's Wisdom, His Heritage to Nation, Stands Test of Time

VANISHING years have failed to dim the fame of Abraham Lincoln. Instead they have served to bring home to new generations the value of his heritage—the wisdom which was the mainstay of a nation during its throes of disunion and which is as applicable today as then.

During the hectic prohibition era and since, extreme reformers might have garnered something of value from a speech made 93 years ago, in Springfield, Ill., by the great war-time president. He said, then, in part:

"When the conduct of men is to be influenced, persuasion—kind, unassuming persuasion—should ever be adopted. It is an old and true maxim that 'a drop of honey catches more flies than a gallon of gall.'

"So with men. If you would win a man to your cause, first convince him that you are his sincere friend. His heart is the great high road to his reason."

This Lincolnian policy goes a long way toward explaining the marvelous mastery of the human heart which, together with his keen appeal to the human mind, accounted for the rise to eminence of the humble mid-western rail-splitter.

• • •

"Holding it a sound maxim that it is better only to be sometimes right than at all times wrong, as soon as I discover my opinions to be erroneous I shall be ready to renounce them."

However, it is in the field of public issues that Lincoln's counsel has widest value to posterity. He put in a sentence the whole meaning of democracy when he said in a debate:

His kindness and gentleness—two of Abraham Lincoln's outstanding traits—are mirrored in this splendid photograph, the existence of which was not known until a year ago. An Ohioan discovered it in his collection of historical pictures. Investigation disclosed that it was taken late in 1863 in a Washington, D. C., studio; and that it had lain obscured in a box of plates since that time.

Advice worth heeding in these critical post-depression times is Lincoln's statement:

"We must not be led by excitement and passion to do that which our sober judgments would not approve in our cooler moments. . . . In grave emergencies, moderation is generally safer than radicalism."

And yet the president was no stubborn, arch-conservative standpatter. Consider the following:

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it.

"If the policy of the government, upon vital questions affecting the whole people, is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the supreme court . . . the people will have ceased to be their own rulers.

"Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration."

These words, which clearly illustrate President Lincoln's remarkable grasp of fundamentals, might have been spoken within the last several years.

President Roosevelt at 53

This unusual character study of President Roosevelt, taken on the eve of his 53d birthday, Jan. 30, reveals that the strain and worry of handling one of the hardest jobs in the world have failed to leave their stamp upon his expression. The chief executive appears as hale and vigorous today as when he assumed the presidency.

Harrison Short Is Given 15 Years In Pen For Assault

District Judge E. C. Nelson came from Amarillo Thursday to try Harrison Short, charged with assault for intent to murder. A jury heard the evidence and assessed him a sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary.

Short was the third man who drew a penitentiary sentence in this case.

Edward Keel plead guilty and drew a sentence of one year for driving while intoxicated. He also plead guilty on the charge of assault and drew a sentence of from two to five years.

The offense was the case of assault on State Highway Patrolman Boyce Long during Christmas week. Long stopped the men north of Canyon. They were so intoxicated that he got into the car to drive them to Canyon. They took his gun, beating him over the head, and at Third Avenue kicked him from the car. Keel and Johnson were arrested the next day, but Short managed to stay out of the clutches of the law until arrested at Dallas two weeks ago. He denied ever having been in Canyon until the case was tried.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

The East Is Getting Cagey . . . They May Never Come Back, but That Doesn't Stop 'em Trying . . . Oh, That Tiger!

BY PHILIP MARTIN

Is basketball about to assume the role of leading winter sport?

Since the game was ushered into the world by Dr. James Naismith in 1891, when he was physical education director at the Springfield, Mass., Y. M. C. A., it has enjoyed a steady, though not phenomenal, growth in popularity.

Basketball is played the country over, but hottest interest in the cage game seems to center in the midwest—particularly in Indiana. There are indications now, however, that basketball is emerging as a major sport in the east, a sector which up to this time has not been very basketball-conscious.

A recent intersectional game between Notre Dame and New York University, held in Madison Square Garden, drew 16,500 fans. Several other duels featuring outstanding college teams of south and midwest will be staged in Gotham before the season ends, probably before packed houses.

Much credit for increased eastern interest in basketball is without doubt due to the emphasis being placed on the intersectional angle this year, just as football boomed as a result of matching championship teams of different sections of the country.

Another factor that may have contributed to the new vogue is the decision to put basketball on exhibition at the coming Olympics. This move will probably bring increased competition among college quintets for the privilege of representing Uncle Sam at the Olympics.

Prosperity, for basketball, anyway, seems to be just around the corner.

• • •

"THEY never come back" is an old bromide in the sports world. But there's another quip that goes "Never say die." In obedience to the latter, four former sports celebrities are going to essay comebacks in 1935.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody will try to climb back to the top of the tennis heap; Max Schmeling, if he can get past Steve Hamas, will go gunning for Baer and a title bout; "Lefty" Grove hopes to turn back the enemy as he did in '32 and '33; and Glenna Collett will endeavor to reclaim the women's golf throne.

• • •

THIS season Cotton Warburton, Trojan ace, scored only one touchdown as compared with 12 in 1933 and eight in 1932 . . . More evidence that a star shines or flickers weakly, depending on the strength of his forward wall . . . For the first time since Tom Connolly's reign in 1930, an Irishman will captain the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame . . . The lucky Celt's name? Joe Sullivan . . Beauty note: Gerald Walker, prominent Tiger outfielder, sports rouged fingernails . . . And when his mates noticed it, were his nails red!

Grim Aftermath of Great Texas Blizzard

Marshes and beaches along the Gulf of Mexico were converted into bleak cemeteries when a howling blizzard raged out of the north, and swept Texas' vast coastal grazing ground. # THE EAGLE'S TALE

Well, well!

Right in the middle of his commercial geography class, Mr. Carruth smelled a peculiar odor, so he began his lecture on "B. O." He said that he would suggest that some of the members of the class go home and soak overnight. George and Pee Wee both got scared it was them when Mr. Carruth started walking up and down the aisles, sniffing, trying to smell who was guilty.

When he couldn't smell no particular one, he accused someone of eating garlic, and after no one confessed, he searched them all for "stink balls," but he never found any. Then his face turned red, then he grew pale, and the kids all suspicioned he thought it was hisself. And you should have seen the look of relief on his face when he found out that the chemistry kids had made some stink stuff they call hydrogen sulfite (that smells like rotten eggs), and all the time that was what they had been smelling.

Maybe you think Thomas Harris didn't get a good razzing Friday night when he went out on the court to play basketball with his undershirt hanging down over his shorts. In fact, I heard several remarks about his dress being too short!

It was certainly too bad that our Eagle boys and girls had to let Hereford beat us, but just the same, I think that all of them did some mighty fine playing.

Have any of you had a chance to ride in Polly's Model T Chevrolet? That's really a keen car, don't you think so? It seems remarkable that anyone can drive and look around backwards at least three-fourths of the time, but Polly can do that very thing.

These three for a dime pictures are really causing some excitement. It's easy to understand why so many girls are having their pictures made, but for the life of me I can't figure out why Jack Taylor, and a few of these other boys are continually posing. By the way, I guess you all know that good looking blond (boy) is taking the pictures.

We wonder if it's really a fact that Lanny Line fell for Mary Collins. It has also been rumored around that he fell for Pee Wee Lowe. It seems as if he's causing a little excitement around school.

Until again!

BACK THE EAGLE-TEAM

Saturday night, Feb. 9, the Eagles will meet the Tulia Hornets in the last home game of the season, and a BIG crowd is expected out to see the games, since it will be the last chance to see several of the players do their stuff.

Don't you think the teams deserve a little more support than you have been giving them?

Those players have practiced long and played hard to be on the ball teams, and they deserve a whole lot of real support.

The crowd last week was much larger than it has been, but there weren't nearly enough students out then.

Just put yourself in the players place; how would you feel if you were playing your last game in the Eagle gym, and the sidelines were only half filled and half enthusiastic?

The Canyon And Hereford Debate Clubs Meet In Assembly

The Hereford High School Debate Club came to Canyon Thursday, January 31, for two practice debates, one of which was given in assembly.

The question for debate this year is, "Resolved: That the Government should own and operate Power and Light Utilities."

The following dialogue gives the trend of thought in the debate:

First Affirmative speaker—

"Is there a need for a change?"

"Regulation has failed—therefore we should have a change. State and National government regulations have also failed. What could be worse than false propaganda put out by private ownerships? Stockholders work for profit. It is dangerous to leave utilities alone. The Federal Government cannot successfully regulate public utilities."

First Negative speaker—

"What would happen if all utilities were abolished? Inventions would slack. Governments would analyse expenditures before they attempt regulation. Regulation has never broken down in private ownerships. State commissions have lower prices and controlled securities. Government would be Socialistic if all of the utilities were taken over by the Government. If they don't want graft in politics why do they put it in the government?"

Second Affirmative speaker—

"Lowering rates justifies money which has been spent in propaganda."

Second Negative speaker—

Why do we have cheap rates under Private Ownership? Because private ownership has been successful in Government ownership. We have more cheap rates than municipal owned cities.

The second debate was held in room 30, immediately following assembly.

Grade School Principal Says—

The children of the first four grades have been making many excursions this year. These trips have brought inquiries from patrons into the whys and wherefores of such activities and into the school work that led to them. Such interest is pleasing to us.

The curriculum for these grades grows out of the pupil's interests in the life of their homes, school, and community, and in the lives of other people of different times and environment. We hope that the experiences provided in grade one will help these small children to understand their responsibilities to home and school groups and will develop standards of conduct which will serve as guides to both present and future action.

In the second grade the aim is to provide experiences that will develop an understanding "of the social significance of all the mutually dependent institutions and groups of people in (our) community," and to lead these children to worth while participation in school, home, and community activities.

In our third and fourth grades pioneer or primitive life has been selected as the center of interest. Through this study the aim is to develop a better understanding of the hardships of such life and to lead to an appreciation of the contributions of these people to our own civilization. The experiences provided by this unit of work should reveal the great opportunities possessed by boys and girls of the present day.

The units of work followed in these grades are divided into activities for gaining information and activities for using the information gained. The regular school subjects are not neglected. It is thru them that much of the needed information is gained. The excursion is sometimes used as an approach to a study, or at other times, as a culmination of an activity. Because of the strong motivation thus given by first hand experiences better results in the way of creative work and thinking are obtained. We hope that "desirable attitudes that will function in actual living" are being developed.

Agriculture Class Visits Two Farms

Twenty members of the Agriculture class, which includes five girls, visited the farm of Mr. D. E. Stevens and the College Farm last Thursday morning.

The class was taken by bus to the Stevens farm where the members studied the construction of a type of irrigation known as the "semilateral pump" type.

They then went to the College Farm where they observed a different type of irrigation known as the "free water system" and the "flood system."

This is the first field trip for the class this year, and George Gandy, the instructor, expressed his hope of going on many trips this spring. He said he was disappointed because the class did not see the irrigation systems in operation.

OPPORTUNITY NEVER RETURNS

A wise man once remarked while completing a task at which he had been working for many weeks, "the street called By and By leads only to the House called Never."

However great or small a task can be, whether sewing a run in a silk stocking, studying for an English exam, or pursuing an inviting opportunity, it seems the sad fate of all students to play the procrastinator.

To the average co-ed an opportunity may be a follow-up story to a coquettish glance; to a striving journalist an opportunity has perhaps more glorious fields. However humble, however great, however daring an opportunity may be, like the spent arrow or the spoken word, it can never be recalled.

Is to say "by and by," a saying which in this application becomes no longer "sweet," serving an opportunity successfully?

Bill Price and Polly Little gave Mary Ella Lowe a surprise party on her birthday, Jan. 28. Mary Collins, Carolyn Mayfield, Billy Greenfield, Mickey Schmitz, Mary Bourn and Lavena Watkins were there. They skated to the college and back and then refreshments of cake, sandwiches, parfait and tea were served.

First Grade Tots Tour City Thurs.

"I'm gonna be a fireman when I get big," said a small, but important student of the Canyon Grade School, Thursday. His class had just returned from a drive through town, and the fire trucks caught his eye.

The purpose of the trip was to observe the place of labor or the homes of community helpers.

The aim was to help the children to know and appreciate the community helpers and the kinds of work they do. They are going to build a small town and the visit gave them pointers on how to build it. The town will be built of boxes, cans or anything which fits the eye of the young architects. This project is to follow up their farm unit.

Mrs. Collins reported that the children enjoyed the trip a great deal, especially the stop at the fire station.

S. B. ORTON SPEAKS TO GEOGRAPHY CLASSES

Mr. S. B. Orton talked to the fourth, fifth, and seventh grade Geography classes Tuesday, Jan. 28 and Thursday, Jan. 31.

He took the fourth grade with him on a tour of the western states.

The seventh grade classes are studying the eastern states. Mr. Orton told them of his travels in the east and contrasted the east with the west.

The fifth grade classes are studying Switzerland; although Mr. Orton had never visited Switzerland, he told the students about the Switzerland of our country, the west.

Mr. Orton is expected to talk to the classes again sometime this year.

Meet The Eaglettes

Mable (Mickey) Schmitz was elected captain of the 1935 basketeers, Friday, Jan. 25. Mickey, a forward, is playing her fourth and final year of basketball for Canyon High School. You can identify Mickey by her excellent playing and goal shooting. Her playing number is 6.

Mickey is not only a star in basketball, but has starred in many other sports as well as in other activities. Mickey has been pep leader of the Purple Peps for three years and has proved efficient.

Mickey is also on the tap dancing team which has appeared in programs several times in the last two years.

The 1934 Football Squad elected Mickey as its Queen.

Besides taking part in many clubs, in the district meet each year, she enters volleyball and tennis.

Mickey has also played the cornet in the band the four years she has been in high school.

This year she has entered debate and is expected to letter.

Co-Ed Forward

The new, tall jump-forward is Mary Ella Davis. She is a junior and will make a dandy jump for the team next year. Mary Ella has number 9.

Evelyn Cluck, a sophomore, is a very fast and speedy guard. This is her first year to play, but it is believed she will make a real star for CHS during the two remaining years in high school.

Another new and inexperienced guard of this year is Mary Collins, also a sophomore. Mary is 5 feet and 8 inches in height and her place is under the goal where she can tip the ball out of the forwards' hands. Watch for number 5; that's she.

Thelma Bryant, who is wearing number 10, is also proving a very good guard. This is her last year in CHS, but she is taking advantage of it and starring for the purple and white.

Jean Slack

Jean Slack, another forward, is playing her first year of basketball. She is a sophomore and is expected to play two more years on the team. Jean plays jump-forward and wears number 4.

Another Eaglette playing forward is Edith Steen. Boy! watch her shoot those field goals. Edith is a senior but she is doing good work for the team this year. She is wearing number 7.

"Red" Watkins is another outstanding player for the purple and white. If the ball comes to her end, watch out! Red has it and it's back to the Canyon forwards. Red is a junior and has the material to develop into a real star next year. She has no special number.

"Little, but mighty," is Billy Louise Greenfield, another sophomore who is playing guard. She can dart around those forwards and play with speed. Billy has no regular number.

Irene Thompson, a senior, is also another good guard. This is her first year to play basketball. Her playing number is 1.

There is another sophomore guard, Betty Ruth Solomon, who is doing good work for the team this year. The two remaining years she has in high school will help her to become a real player. She has no regular number.

Out of the twelve best basketeers of CHS, five are sophomores, five seniors, and two are juniors. The average weight of the team is about 125 pounds, and the height averages about five feet and seven inches. All in all, this year the Canyon High School has an outstanding girls team.

Eagles To Play Hornets In Season's Last Home Game

The girls and boys Eagle teams will play their last home game here Saturday night when they meet the powerful Tulia Hornets.

The Canyon and Tulia girls are evenly matched, although the Eaglettes have previously won over the Hornets by the score of 22 to 19.

The Eaglettes have won five games and lost four, obtaining the total score of 206 to that of 181 of their opponents.

Glasses For "Looks" New Fad In C. H. S.

Glasses for "looks!"

What a fad has struck Canyon; or is it a fad?

There are in Canyon High School 31 pairs of blue, grey, black and brown eyes peering over, under, or through hectagon - shaped glasses, round glasses, metal-rimmed spectacles, horn-rimmed, and even those stern bifocles with an inserted reading glass. The colors range from a light grey, through blue, pink, and yellow, to a dark brown tint.

The "fair sex" hasn't kept up their part of the bargain; namely that of being easy on the eyes; since statistics (gained from close observation in the corridor classes) proves that these dashing heroes have begun and set the cowardly style. (Remember you can't fight a person with glasses on.)

Sickness Causes Absence of Many

Irvin of Perryton Speaks at Faculty Study Club Meeting

W. B. Irwin, Superintendent of Perryton Schools, was the main speaker in Faculty Study Club, Thursday night, Jan. 31. The subject of Mr. Irwin's discussion was the new phases of the curriculum revision movement which the Study Club has been studying.

Mr. Irwin first brought out the teachers' importance in the future leading of society. Teachers, he said, are now studying this coming change and comparing their ideas and standards. This study, Orientation, Mr. Irwin reported, is a resume of past progress.

The cardinal principles of life, Mr. Irwin continued, are health, leisure time, society, and vocations. Education is the base of all these. He next pointed out the four aims the outcomes of education, and the aims of subjects. The faults of the present system of promotion were briefly touched upon.

Teachers Also Discussed

"All schools center around a teacher's interest to teach and the child's interest to learn," said Mr. Irwin.

The last part of Mr. Irwin's speech concerned a short discussion on the book, "Teachers and Teaching" collected by Frank Hart. This book gives short descriptions of teachers classified as Teacher A, the teacher whom the student writing the description liked best, Teacher H, the best teacher, and Teacher Z, the worst liked teacher.

Short current events on new phases of education were given at the first of the program by the following teachers: Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Stella Murrell, Miss Grace Clark, Miss Elva Fronabarger, and Miss Lois Goodrich.

A short talk was given, after Mr. Irwin's speech, by W. A. McIntosh, State District Chairman. Mr. Charles Rogers of Amarillo closed the meeting with a few appropriate remarks.

Coffee and doughnut refreshments were served to those present by the committee of the week, Mrs. James Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dodson, Miss Leona Meyer, and Miss Hilda Miller.

Debate Club To Attend Tourney

The Canyon debators have been busy the last two weeks in order to be able to attend the Lubbock debate tournament Friday and Saturday, February 8 and 9.

Two debates were held last Thursday with Hereford. Hunter and Spradley, girl debators from Hereford, debated Orton and Gamble. Hereford took the affirmative and Canyon took the negative. There was no decision given on the debate.

The Hereford boys team debated the Canyon girls, Mary Ella Lowe and Mable Schmitz. The Canyon team again took the negative, and no decision was given.

A practice debate was held between the Canyon boys and girls teams Monday, Jan. 28, and a debate with the boys and girls of Friona Tuesday night, Jan 29.

Overton, Mary May Harrison, Irene Thompson, Edith Steen, Winnie Dee Hicks, Athalee Overton and Dora Mae Plaster attended the funeral of P. K. Brian at Claude, Monday. Mr. Brian is the father of Loura Ferne Brian, a graduate of 1934, and of Eloise and Jackie Brian, students of the grade school.

EAGLES LOSE TO HEREFORD FRIDAY NIGHT

WHITEFACES WIN FAST AND THRILLING GAME WITH 32-24 SCORE

The Eagles were trampled under the hoofs of the Hereford Whitefaces Friday night in a fast and hard-fought game.

In the first quarter of the game, the tally was 6 to 6. At the end of the second quarter both teams came out with five field goals, but the Whitefaces were awarded seven free shots and made three of them, while the Eagles were awarded five and made only one, leaving the score 11 and 13 at the half.

The last half of the game was characterized by the fast breaking of both teams, and the Eagles were unable to check the scoring of the Whitefaces. The Eagles scored only thirteen points in the last half, while the Whitefaces scored nineteen, ending the game 24 to 32 in favor of hereford.

Clayton, Hereford center, making 14 points, was high point man, followed by Taylor, Canyon forward, with 9 points.

Girls Lose To Hereford

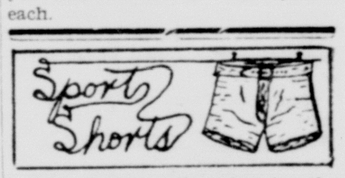
The girls also lost a game to the Hereford girls. This was the second game the Eaglettes have dropped to the Hereford sextet this season. The first was played on the opponents court, the second in the local gymnasium.

Taking the lead from the start, the Whitefaces found little difficulty in staying ahead during the entire game. Because of "flu," the Eaglettes were at a slight disadvantage.

Arthur of Hereford took scoring honors with a total of 18 points, while Davis and Schmitz of Canyon tied for second with 6 points each.



The Eagles will entertain the powerful Tulia Hornets in the local gymnasium Saturday, Feb. 9, and urge that all fans be present to witness the last home game of the 1935 season. Don't miss it.

Jack Taylor, Eagle midget forward, proved his ability Saturday by scoring over his large opponent guard. Jack is small and still a little inexperienced, but has proved that he is capable of holding his large opponents to small scores.

The Eagles have only four games on their remaining schedule and three of these are to be played away from home.

Everyone is still working and brightening the hopes of the Eagles' chance to win the District Tournament.

The Eagles of '26, '27, and '28 won three consecutive District Championships in their years of competition, and in the season of '26 the Eagles were defeated by one point for the Texas State Championship.

It is said after a climax is reached, and has fallen, the climax can never be reached again, but the Eagles resent this fact and are working for this climax.

Hauptmann Trial Grips World Attention

In this scene from the tiny but world-famed Flemington, N. J., courtroom, during the trial of Bruno Hauptmann on the charge of the murder of the Lindbergh baby, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh (1) stares straight ahead, as if in deep thought, while Bruno Hauptmann (2), the accused, mutters an aside to his wife. During the first days of the trial, Mrs. Lindbergh, shown bottom left as she entered the courtroom, testified as to her actions the night of the kidnaping, March 1, 1932; Betty Gow, center below, nursemaid to the slain baby, matched wits with a relentless defense counsel who tried to involve Miss Gow's former suitors in the crime; and Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, right, prepared to appear as voluntary witness and identify Hauptmann as the ransom receiver.

Spanish Dancer Will Give Program Next Wednesday

For the first time Canyon is to have ap rogram by a Spanish dancer and interpreter when Senorita Espinel appears at the College Auditorium next Wednesday night under the auspices of the Spanish department.

Luisa Espinel is a native of Spain, and her program is a dance-recital in which she interprets through her costumes, her dancing and her explanations the life and customs of Old Spain and Spanish America.

A costume identical with one which the last Queen of Spain wore when she attended folk-festivals will be one worn by Senorita Espinel; it was presented to her in appreciation of fine work in interpreting the beauty and hardship and faith and joy of the Spanish people to the world.

A night without an engagement while in this section enabled the Spanish organizations to secure Espinel at a price which made possible the low cost of the tickets, which will be thirty-five cents. The program will be at 8:15 on February 13, in the College Auditorium.

High School Spanish pupils and teachers from over the Panhandle have been especially invited to come to the program.

Buffaloes Trounce Sul Ross In Smooth Two-Game Series

Ex-Letterman Brings A Colorful Quintet From Alpine

Featuring a smoother-working, more coordinated offense and defense, the West Texas Buffaloes came into their own last Friday and Saturday nights to sweep a two game basketball series from the Sul Ross Loboes of Alpine Teachers College.

With a better spirit and morale than has been evidenced for some time the Buffaloes put on an exhibition of basketball that was pleasing to the fans, and founded some hopes for a successful basketball season and a possible participation in the National tournament in Denver this year.

Coach B. C. Graves, an ex-letterman of W. T. S. T. C., brought a tall, experienced, colorful quintet to Canyon with the hopes of defeated his Alma Mater but the rejuvenated Buffaloes were too much for the Loboes.

Throughout the first game the Buffs were clearly masters of the situation. They grabbed an early lead and were never overtaken. At the half the score was 16 to 6 for the Buffaloes.

Captain Edd McMinn was high point man of the affair with four field goals and four free pitches for ten points. He was followed closely by Buck Caraway, substitute Lobo guard who scored eight points. In the first game Coach Baggett used every man on his squad except Curtis Clement, letterman, who has been ill, and the work of the reserves made the chances of the Buffs for the rest of the season look brighter. Willie Boedeker was ousted from the game in the early part of the second half because of too many personal fouls. Boedeker had had the flu the week before, and although he was weak, played some sensational basketball.

The second game proved to be a faster, closer, more exciting contest than the first one. The men of Coach Graves had a good record in the southern part of the state and came back determined to revenge their defeat of the first night.

With the final outcome of the game in doubt until the final minute, the contest was characterized by fans as one of the finest exhibitions of good, clean, clever basketball to be seen in Burton Gymnasium in several years.

Nooncaster, elongated center for the visitors, who played brilliantly, started the race with a field goal on the opening tip off. However, Clark, Buff guard, counteracted that with a long shot for two points.

Captain McMinn dropped in a gratis toss to put the Buffs in the lead, and although the Loboes were pressing all the time, they were never able to take the lead from the Buffs after that first few minutes.

For the rest of the game both teams displayed fast breaking offenses, tight defensive work, and accurate shooting, with the Buffaloes having a margin. At the half the score was 18 to 13.

In the closing minutes the Sul Ross team began to whittle the margin of the Buffaloes, and with just two minutes to play, the Bison Herd had a lead of only three points.

However Kimmins and Davis, two substitute guards for the Buffaloes, settled the issue by dropping in two field goals after some crip shots missed had given the fans heart failure. The affair finally ended with the Buffs holding a seven point lead, 32 to 25.

All of the Buffaloes played good games with McMinn and Boedeker proving effective at breaking up the passing game of the visitors. Captain Edd McMinn continued his pace setting in the scoring column with twelve points, while Starnes, Lobo forward, was runnerup with eight points.

Butch Clark and Caraway tied for third place with three field goals and one free pitch each for seven points. Carll, Nooncaster, Morris, and Caraway, all played nice games for the Alpine boys.

The Amarillo club furnishes recreation in the way of wrestling, boxing, all sorts of games, with reading rooms. From 100 to 150 boys are at the club daily, most of whom would be on the streets if they were not in the club room. A new club house is being erected which will make a more desirable place for the boys to meet.

Irby Carruth stated that the school trustees had been working on the boy problem and were anxious to co-operate in the movement.

J. H. Cox, Jr., stated that the Chamber of Commerce would offer every assistance.

At a meeting of the American Legion Tuesday night, the plan was approved and money voted to buy equipment for the building when erected.

Vice president Irby Carruth of the Rotary Club will appoint a committee to visit the Amarillo Maverick club and investigate its organization.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

BY PHILIP MARTIN

"AND a little child shall lead them." This little axiom seems to fit in well with the present boxing situation. The tiny fellows are stealing the show from the beefy ones, at the same time leading the fight game back into the sports fold.

It is a well-known fact that the heavyweight division of the fight game has been going to the proverbial dogs in recent years. Maxie Baer, and one or two promising newcomers, are the only ones who have shown any of the color which kept the gates clicking in the Dempsey era.

A batch of lightweights, however, has been going about its business with such evident relish that the little fellows have the fight bugs by the ears, so to speak.

Lou Ambers, for instance, is doing a man-sized job of cuffing around all comers. Barney Ross, lightie champ, thinks so highly of Ambers that he took a suspension from the New York Boxing Commission rather than, as ordered, tread resin with Lou.

Yet Del Genio, a little fellow whose ring work has made him the toast of Gotham, fails to entertain any qualms at mention of the name "Ambers." In fact, the Brooklyn youth is eager to tackle either Ambers or Ross. He is practically unknown in the hinterland, however, having done all his chores around Manhattan.

The Windy City has three entries in this lightweight free-for-all. Chicagoans point with pride to the fancy way in which Leo Rodak, Frankie Siglio, and Davey Day mow down all opponents. Rodak is a stand-out, having turned in 22 consecutive victories.

Another shining light in the 135-pound division hails from Quakertown and bears the monicker of Eddie Cool. Eddie lives up to his name in the ring, though he makes it hot for those facing him.

All of which is by way of saying that the wee lads are capturing the prestige squandered by their weightier brethren.

• • •

SOME 17 years ago or so, an army of Americans sailed over to fight in Europe. Europeans have decided to return the courtesy, or something. Anyway, 1935 will probably go down in history as the year of the great rush of European mitt slingers to American soil.

Old Erin's contribution, Jack Doyle, has compiled a remarkable record, winning 36 or 37 starts — all by the K. O. route. The Basque section of France offers the huge, 200-pound Isidore Gastanaga, who boasts of nine knockouts in his last 10 battles. Jack Petersen, the English entry who, strangely, brought the only blot to Doyle's pro record—by a foul—is another of the visitors.

• • •

GEORGE ANDERSON, sprint ace of Southern California, will be the next "fastest human," predicts Charlie Paddock . . . The catching staff of the White Sox is the oldest in the majors . . . The ages of their three backstops, Ruel, Shea, and Sewell, totals 106 years . . . Big Bill Tilden is some shucks as a polo player.
